

DAILY CANDY

NEW YORK - SEPTEMBER 14, 2009

Midnight Ramblers

Get Tickets for Midnight Music and Munchies

What? Cashed out and party pooped already? (That's what happens when you stomp around Fashion Week in open-toe platform boots.)

Buck up, because we're gearing up for the city's next throwdown: the New York City Wine & Food Festival. Mark your calendars for October 8-11 — especially October 9 for DailyCandy's Midnight Music and Munchies. The party runs from 10 p.m. until the booze runs out. (Bitch, please.)

We've held some tix for subscribers (we can't actually plan ahead either), but given the bartenders, chefs, and booty-shaking DJ on the lineup, they'll disappear by lunch.

As for the rest of the fest, it's quite a roster, but you'll want to hit Meatpacking Uncorked (before Munchies), Sweet, and Midnight Amore.

Pause for feel-good moment: All proceeds benefit Share Our Strength and the Food Bank of New York City.

Now. What are you going to wear?

Order tickets online at nycwineandfoodfestival.com.